Matson Logistics Launches New Express LCL Service from China to New York Metro Market

CONCORD, Calif., May 17, 2016 /PRNewswire/ -- Matson Logistics Supply Chain Services is expanding its less-than-container-load (LCL) capabilities by offering direct fast transit from China to the New York and New Jersey markets.

The service is based on Matson's industry-leading China-Long Beach Express (CLX) service, which offers the fastest transit times in the Transpacific trade, and partners with JAD International for expedited coast-to-coast transport.

The new service provides exceptional benefits, including:

- | LCL freight receipt at origin CFS locations in Shanghai, Dalian, Guangzhou, Hong Kong, Ningbo, Qingdao, Shenzhen, Tianjin, and Xiamen.
- | Weekly Matson sailings from Shanghai via Long Beach to New York/New Jersey. Unmatched transit speed and reliability: Shanghai to NY/NJ in 14 days with cargo availability Thursday afternoons.
- | Convenient CFS facility in Elizabeth, NJ to ensure fast availability and deliveries.
- | Service options include origin pick-up and expedited door delivery at destination.
- | All shipments are managed end-to-end for optimal visibility and service performance by our award winning customer service staff.

"We listened to our clients' needs and in collaboration with JAD International, we are proud to bring this premium service to the market," said Jeffrey Ivinski, director of sales & marketing for Matson Logistics Supply Chain Services. "Matson created an alternative to costly air freight to the West Coast and now we are bringing expedited service to the important New York metro market. To compete with air freight we not only have to be fast but also extremely reliable. With Matson's outstanding ocean transit and JAD's land network, we can execute with a high degree of precision and add even more value for our customers."
